Code of Conduct and Ethics Policy

The ethical climate of an organisation is an essential element in establishing its credibility and furthering its mission. An organisational culture that takes ethical considerations into account at every point cannot be produced simply by having the Board lay down a code; ethical principles must arise from consultation with and responsiveness to the organisation's members, clients, employees and stakeholders.

Purpose

The Code of Conduct and Ethics Policy sets out the ethical principles and professional standards of conduct that directors, executives, volunteers and staff of the AIPM are expected to adopt in the course of the performance of their duties.

Policy Statement

AIPM is committed to maintaining a Code of Conduct and Ethics that outlines the standards of behaviour expected of staff and directors; their rights; and ethical standards expected of them to promote sound professional behaviour in order to safeguard the welfare of our members and the integrity of AIPM. Our Institute values, moral imperatives and ethical principles will form the basis for the development of this code.

Our Code of Conduct and Ethics Plan provides the basis by which the company will behave towards employees, volunteers, suppliers, members and our customers. The Golden Rule of "Treat others as you expect others to treat you" will always apply. As a result, the company will maintain a system of assessment whereby possible breaches of the policy can be investigated and any proven failure to adhere to the Code could result in disciplinary action that may lead to the termination of employment or the removal of a director should a director be found guilty.

Procedure Responsibility

The CEO working with the Governance and Ethics Committee will issue and maintain a Code of Conduct and Ethics that will apply to all at AIPM including directors, executives, staff and volunteers.

Procedure

The AIPM is serious about Ethics and our approach to managing appropriate behaviour is structured and appropriate. We expect directors, executives, staff and volunteers to maintain at all times the highest standard of ethics, but also recognise that things happen occasionally which may be out of the control of the people concerned and also may happen due to a lapse of judgement. Our fundamental requirement is that our directors, executives, staff and volunteers behave to the best of their abilities and will treat others as they themselves expect to be treated. Our core values are:

Leadership and Morality

- We expect people to be responsible for their actions and advice and be truthful in their dealings.
- We expect people to be moral behaviour and to be able to distinguish between right and wrong
- To provide leadership when needed and expected
- To manage conflicts of interest openly and thoughtfully.
- Obey the laws of the country, including the Corporations Law.
- To provide a safe and respectful working environment.

Honesty, Integrity and Respect

- Being ethical and upstanding in all that is undertaken by them or the AIOM
- Act impartially and without prejudice or bias.
- To always be professional
- For AIPM director, executives, staff and volunteers to work towards achieving common and agreed goals.
- Not to compete against AIPM
- Not to accept gifts or incentives unless fully disclosed and accepted by the board
- Not to receive any payment from AIPM except in roles agreed to by the board.
- Not to work for a competing or member company without full disclosure.

Confidentiality and Trust

- Maintain confidentiality between people when required or expected to do so.
- Keep board and company confidential information safe at all times.
- Not disclose internal issues or concerns to outside parties.
- Not speak to the Press unless authorised to do so.

Equality

- Not discriminate on the basis of gender, ethnicity, religion or age.
- Not bring the AIPM or the project management sector into disrepute.
- To be fair and reasonable when handling disputes by being appropriately judgemental to all parties.
- Not to be biased towards friendship when competence is the issue.

Good Faith and Openness

- To always treat others as you expect to be treated yourself
- To have open and honest conversations with no hidden agendas
- To always act in good faith and with respect to others
- To be companionate towards others

Breaches of the Code of Ethics

AIPM will review any breaches of conduct and assess the level of severity based on a sliding scale from 1 to 5, where 1 is minor and likely an accidental level of misconduct to Level 5 which is a gross or severe misconduct and will result in instant dismissal and possible civil or criminal action against the offender. See Table 1 - Misconduct Levels and Remedies.

In the event of a complaint of misconduct is on a director or executive or there is a clear case of conflict of interest with the executive then it is the responsibility of the Governance and Ethics Committee to undertake a review. This will be done formally through interviews and conducted within 7 days from the date of the letter. A brief report will be produced and provided to the Chair and Board with their recommendations for follow-up action.

In the event of a complaint of misconduct on a staff member or volunteer It is the responsibility of the CEO and Company Secretary to undertake a review, document and then discuss with the Chair their recommendations for any Breach of the Code of Ethics at a Level 3 or above before any action is taken. For Level 1 and 2, the CEO may take appropriate action immediately.
